Older Citations Added to MEDLINE
The National Library of Medicine announced the addition of older citations (1953-1965) to the MEDLINE database. OLDMEDLINE consists of over 1.5 million citations to articles published in international biomedical journals in the fields of medicine, preclinical sciences and allied sciences. These citations were originally published in the hardcopy of Index Medicus.

For more information on how to search for these citations in MEDLINE go to: http://www.nlm.nih.gov/pubs/techbull/ so03/so03_oldmedline.html

Library Offers Classes on ISI Web of Science

Are you familiar with Web of Science? Web of Science is the database you need to use to find out how many people have cited your work. The Library will be offering classes on Web of Science on Friday October 17, 2003.

For more information visit: http://www.library.tmc.edu/liblines/2003/SSI.html

ToxTown
A unique database that introduces you to toxic chemicals and environmental health data. This database is a project of the Specialized Information Services Division of the National Library of Medicine. Tox Town can be accessed at: http://toxtown.nlm.nih.gov/
