RefWorks Changes

Next time you access RefWorks, the interface may look a little different. RefWorks "Classic" will be replaced by RefWorks 2.0 on December 31, 2011. If you haven't used RefWorks recently or if you haven't had the opportunity to investigate the new interface, you may check the following video:

http://www.refworks-cos.com/refworks/rwpreview/RefWorks_New_UI_demo.htm

Some of the changes with the new interface are:

- A new Write'n'Cite interface will be released with RefWorks 2.0. You can preview this interface by visiting the link: http://www.refworks.com/refworks2/writencite4.htm
- A Group Code will no longer be needed for access, once you have set up your RefWorks account.

To access RefWorks via RefMobile you will be able to use your personal login and to use all components of RefWorks, whether you happen to be on or off campus. In order to implement the change, RefWorks advises customers that a very few personal logins may need to be changed. This only applies to you if you have used the same login for multiple accounts. If you need assistance with login problems e-mail RefWorks support at: support@refworks.com.

We would like to remind you that through the generosity of the provider, ProQuest, the one database you can continue to use when you leave the Texas Medical Center is RefWorks. If you have already been a user of RefWorks through The TMC Library's subscription, you have lifetime complementary access.
