Library Receives AIDS Community Information Project Award

The HAM-TMC Library received an AIDS Community Information Outreach Project award from the National Library of Medicine. Project St. Hope: An HIV/AIDS Community Information Outreach Project is designed to facilitate access to electronic HIV/AIDS information resources. This is a collaborative effort involving the HAM-TMC Library, The Center for AIDS Information and Advocacy, and St. Hope Foundation. St. Hope Foundation operates three HIV/AIDS outpatient clinics in the greater Houston area. Project funds are being used to purchase and set up a mobile computer lab that can be transported between the three clinics. Project funds are also being used to purchase and install laptop computers for social workers at each of the three clinics. Social workers will incorporate introduction of electronic HIV/AIDS information resources into the client intake process. A series of five themed presentations focusing on living healthy with HIV are being developed for St. Hope Foundation clients. These presentations pair an HIV/AIDS educator with a health sciences librarian. The HIV/AIDS educator will present content for each topic and the health sciences librarian will present electronic information resources that can be used to support maintenance of a healthy lifestyle. These sessions will be presented at each of the three St. Hope Foundation clinics.
