Your Opinion Counts

In order to gather information from our users and non-users on how better to serve them, the Library has developed a satisfaction survey posted on our website.

Please help the Houston Academy of Medicine - Texas Medical Center \(HAM-TMC\) Library focus our collections, services and outreach on what is most important to you. Whether you visit us only electronically, come into the building every day, or didn't even know we existed until recently, we have a survey question for you!

The survey will be open until April 30, 2010. Please share the link with others you think would like to give feedback. It should take less than 10 minutes of your time. The survey link is http://www.library.tmc.edu/ and click on Library Satisfaction Survey at the bottom of the page.

McGovern Historical Collections Blog

Welcome to The Black Bag: Foundations of Medicine, a blog created by the staff of the John P. McGovern Historical Collections and Research Center. The McGovern Collections are part of the HAM-TMC Library.

For more information visit our website at: <http://mcgovern.library.tmc.edu/>

This blog is a tool to inform you of what is new at the McGovern Collections (or what is really old), what our current projects are and, in general, how we can better serve you.

The McGovern Collections include rare books, manuscripts and institutional papers. The archive contains collections about past physicians in the Houston area, Texas Historical Medical Collection, the Texas Medical Center, the Atomic Bomb Casualty Commission, North American rheumatologists, medical-related photographs, artifacts, and ephemera. The rare books include the Burbank/Fraser Collection on Arthritis, Rheumatism and Gout; the Cora and Webb Mading Collection on Public Health; and the McGovern Collection on the History of Medicine, all available at:
